

Grooved contact wire

Descripción

Bronmetal high quality grooved copper wire for contact lines.

Grooved contact wire is part of the electrification system, known as catenary in the railway sector. A catenary is an overhead power line, which transmits electrical energy to locomotives or other rolling stock, which includes systems known as tramway, trolleybus line, rigid catenary and flexible catenary.